Look for Corporate participation, firm participation

Technology, Industry

On behalf of our client, a holding company, we are looking for majority stakes in industrial or technology companies. Shareholders are various industrial companies from the middle class, which want to secure and develop their future by a majority shareholding in other companies. The aim is to preserve value, but also to create a successful common future. You are also happy to involve executives from the company (MBO) or founders of the company (MBI) and give them a good future perspective through an active participation.
