The well-known postponement, generally referred to as "displacement" or "procrastination", as well as addictive behavior in all its manifestations, or crippling lack of drive and learning blockages, are well-known and widespread phenomena of our society. In my website I show ways of liberation from these shackles. With simple words, suggestions and practical examples, a tool is offered to help you achieve goals set in small steps.

The theme of the homepage is aimed at users from about 16 years of age.

The number of target groups is almost unlimited, here are some examples: private individuals, schools, university institutions, management consultants, tutoring institutes, companies, authorities, associations, professional associations, training institutes, seminars.

There are also no limits to expansion beyond the German-speaking region by translating the website.
