Recycling company (Netherlands)

Raw materials from Germany and abroad are reused into new high-quality products in a variety of industries (including construction, industry and the food industry).

The market in which this company operates can be described as a niche market. Production breaks of bricks, roof tiles, sanitary ceramics, wall and floor tiles and technical ceramics are collected by the company from the ceramics industry and transported to one of the production departments, where they are processed on behalf of suppliers.

The number of actors active in Europe is very limited. The potential catchment area, on the other hand, is very large and almost unlimited. The company focuses primarily on companies in the Netherlands and Germany.

The company is compact (11 Fte), has its own special machinery and transport facilities, and operates from a single location.
