Look for Corporate sales, firm sales, sales Online trade, services, production, trade

Our client, a graduate in business administration in his prime with many years of sales and management experience, is looking for companies in the areas of trade, online trading, services or production (simple products). As managing director of a group of companies with sales in the mid double-digit million range, he has a high sense of responsibility and has already worked in the areas of building materials trading and sales of technical products, including online trading.

As a year-old manager, the candidate now wants to become self-employed and continue and expand the success story of a company in a succession situation.
A larger company in conjunction with an investment company is also interesting.

He characterizes his professional attitude with the attributes "passion and commitment".
